

IN THE CYCLONE'S TRACKS.

A RELIEF EXPEDITION GOING THE ROUNDS OF THE SEA ISLANDS.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 6.—The correspondent who accompanied the Relief Committee on its expedition to the devastated sea islands, together with Dr. Babcock, who was sent by Governor Tillman to make a special report, has seen fearful scenes. Ladies' Island is just across Beaufort river from the town of Beaufort. It is reached by ferryboat.

The people are fearfully demoralized, their crops almost completely gone, and in a majority of instances their homes destroyed. On the trip across the water, Albert Brown, a colored man, was killed by a cyclone wave. The people are in a state of panic. On every side the crops lay ruined. Out of 300 people on the Eustice place fifty-one are dead. The loss by families is:

Johnson Adkins, 7; Quake Singleton, 2; Knox Green, 1; Albert Brown, 2; Caroline Matire, 4; Robin Washington, 3; John Brown, 2; Caroline Simmons, 2; Frank Brown, 1; Washington, 8; Alex Brown, 2; Ed Jenkins, 2; Ed Jenkins, 2.

In the burial ground the bodies are buried just below the surface and emit a deathly odor. The dead were gathered up all of last week, and boxes, made out of wrecked lumber, took the place of coffins. Several coffins were put in many of the impromptu coffins, and as many as six are in a grave. Dr. Babcock ordered more earth upon the graves, and a supply of disinfectants will be sent there at once. The graves were dug deep deeper because the ground is so overgrown with weeds and brush. The bodies were buried in the ground of the island.

It has been received that St. Helena island, one of the ruined settlements. The island is situated in the Gulf of Mexico, and is about 1,000 acres of land. It was planted with corn and half the island was planted with corn. The island is situated in the Gulf of Mexico, and is about 1,000 acres of land. It was planted with corn and half the island was planted with corn.

Dr. Babcock upon his return to Beaufort endeavored to get a supply of necessary medicine. He had to travel a long distance, and he had to travel a long distance. He had to travel a long distance, and he had to travel a long distance. He had to travel a long distance, and he had to travel a long distance.

THE LAST SLEEPER OF A NEW YORK TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH A WEAKENED BRIDGE. RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 6.—The New York express on the Bennington and Rutland Railroad rushed at 2 o'clock this morning, at a speed of forty miles an hour on Child's Bridge over Otter Creek. The train consisted of a mail car, a day coach, and two sleeping cars.

THE LAST SLEEPER OF A NEW YORK TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH A WEAKENED BRIDGE. RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 6.—The New York express on the Bennington and Rutland Railroad rushed at 2 o'clock this morning, at a speed of forty miles an hour on Child's Bridge over Otter Creek. The train consisted of a mail car, a day coach, and two sleeping cars.

THE LAST SLEEPER OF A NEW YORK TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH A WEAKENED BRIDGE. RUTLAND, Vt., Sept. 6.—The New York express on the Bennington and Rutland Railroad rushed at 2 o'clock this morning, at a speed of forty miles an hour on Child's Bridge over Otter Creek. The train consisted of a mail car, a day coach, and two sleeping cars.

LIQUOR DEALERS' CONVENTION.

Morris Tekulsky Re-elected President of the State Association.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 6.—At the opening of the convention of the State Wine, Liquor, and Beer Dealers' Association this morning the President-elect, Morris Tekulsky, of Syracuse, was re-elected President of the association. The convention was held at the Hotel Hamilton, and was attended by about 100 delegates from all parts of the State.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted. The committee on Resolutions reported in favor of admitting the contested delegations from Greenbush, Niagara Falls, Dunkirk, and the Fourteenth District of New York, and the report was adopted.

TWO KILLED IN THE STREET.

MRS. LINDNER BY A SUCKY SHAF, RIVVO BY A TRUCK.

Young William Condor's Sucky Caught the Woman—Louis Condor's Heavy Brewer's Truck Ran Down the Russian Peddler.

Mrs. Josephine Lindner, a widow, 48 years old, of 1,300 Avenue A, was run down and killed yesterday afternoon by a horse and sulky driven by 18-year-old William Condor of 353 East Seventy-second street. Mrs. Lindner was walking across the avenue, which was a busy thoroughfare, when she was struck by the sulky.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

Young Condor was thrown from his sulky. As soon as he saw what had happened he ran away. He went home and told his father of the case. Mr. Condor went around to the East Sixty-seventh street police station and was arrested. He is now in custody.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

Some bystanders shouted to Mrs. Lindner as the horse approached her. She turned and one shaft of the sulky struck her in the right breast, and the pole pierced her lung and fractured her ribs. She was killed instantly. The sulky was driven by William Condor, who was 18 years old. He was arrested by the police and is now in custody.

A KENTUCKY FIGHT TO THE DEATH.

Two Policemen Fought—One Drops, Shot in the Heart—The Other Dies Dying.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 6.—Two policemen fought a deadly duel on the depot platform at Hopkinsville this morning, and as a result Officer Robert West lies dead at the home with a bullet in his heart, and Officer William R. Davis has a wound which will probably cause his death in a few hours.

The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen. A member of the Board, who was a friend of Officer West, was charged with assaulting Officer Davis. The two officers fought a deadly duel on the depot platform at Hopkinsville this morning.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

Officer West was shot in the heart and died. Officer Davis was shot in the arm and is now in custody. The police are investigating the case. The meeting between the officers was the result of a feud that had existed for some time, and which was intensified on Tuesday night at the Board meeting of Councilmen.

ARRESTED THE INSPECTOR.

FIGHTING ALEX. WILLIAMS TAKEN IN BY A GREEN COP.

Found Loitering Near a Ferry Entrance and Put Down by the New Man After Watching a "Fly Mug" Intest on Victim—Prisoner Discharged and Captain Lectured.

Inspector Alexander S. Williams was a broad smile yesterday. So did those of his friends who happened to know of a little incident that befel the Inspector on Tuesday evening. Inspector Williams was arrested by one of his own policemen, and was taken to a station house as a prisoner. Then he was set free.

The man who made the arrest is one of the most recent additions to the force, and is attached to a downtown precinct which includes the approaches to a busy ferry. The new policeman had been especially instructed to look out for green goods men, confidence men, and suspicious persons who are often to be found about crowded ferry houses. When his platoon was turned out on Tuesday evening he was assigned to the street leading to the ferry. Three hours passed and no criminal had been apprehended. The new policeman neared the ferry house.

He brought by the entrance was a tall man with a heavy dark moustache. He wore a dark blue suit and a black derby hat. He watched the people passing to and fro, but spoke to no one. The new policeman stroled down the street until he found a convenient doorway. Then he stepped within the shadow and waited. After a few moments he saw a man coming. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him. The man was a "fly mug" and was carrying a large bag. The new policeman stepped forward and arrested him.

A SOLITARY BANDIT.

He Tried to Hold Up a Train, but Made a Mess of It.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 6.—A novel attempt was made yesterday afternoon by a lone bandit to rob the north-bound Santa Fe train as it pulled out of Orlando, a small town on the southern border of the Cherokee Strip. The bandit started a man on horseback rode alongside until it entered the Strip. At this point a steep grade begins, and as the train labored up the grade the bandit, who was masked, tried to get inside the door of the combination express and baggage car. When the messenger discovered the man's intention he tried to close the door, but the masked man covered him with his revolver and drove him back.

At this point the ground being very rough, the pony stumbled, throwing the rider, and the express messenger took advantage of this fact and opened fire on him. The train had by this time got to the top of the grade, and, increasing in speed, left the bandit behind. The shooting caused great excitement among the passengers, who hid their valuables at the first shot.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

The bandit was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away. He was seen to get up and walk away.

BOTH BODIES IDENTIFIED.

A BIG STRIDE TOWARD SOLVING THE HALLIDAY FARM MYSTERY.

The Murdered Women Were Mrs. Margaret McQuillan and Her Daughter—Both Had Been Lured from Their Homes in Newburgh at Different Times by a Woman Who, a Mass of Evidence Seems to Prove, Was Mrs. Halliday—The Motive for the Crime Puzzling the Police—Old Paul Halliday Still Missing, and Many Now Believe He Had a Hand in the Crimes—Three Revolvers Found—Mrs. Halliday Tears Her Clothing and Otherwise Continues to Act Like a Lunatic.

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 6.—The bodies of the two women who were found on Monday riddled with bullets and buried under a stack of hay and manure in the basement of old Paul Halliday's barn, two miles from the village of Burlington, have been identified, and their identification is the first step in the solution of the latest and deepest mystery of the Shawangunk Mountains. The elder of the two women was Mrs. Margaret McQuillan. She had been lured from her home in Gardenburg, a small town in Newburgh, by a woman of fabulous past for common household work. The younger woman was her daughter, Sarah Jane McQuillan. She was lured from her home on a pretense that she was to attend her injured mother. Both women were probably killed before they had been away from their homes for a week.

The McQuillans lived on a small farm about two miles from the heart of the city of Newburgh. The family consisted of three persons. The aged head is all that remains of it now. The elder of the dead women was the second wife of Thomas McQuillan, who has been farming and churning about Newburgh for many years. He is now 76 years old. The younger one was the issue of the second marriage, and was just past 21 years old. She had always lived at her home until a year ago, when the reduced circumstances of the family made it necessary for her to earn her own living. She had been working in the family of a wealthy Newburgh man.

The identification of the women to-day was brought about through the story of the finding of the bodies, which was printed in The Sun yesterday morning. The strange story of how the women were lured from their home to their deaths by a woman who is now feigning insanity was told by a woman who came from Newburgh and identified the bodies. The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.

The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.

The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.

The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.

The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.

The woman who was Mrs. Halliday, the mother of the dead women, was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character. She was a woman of a very peculiar character.